

QUOTABLE QUOTES – ALFRED LAMBREMONT WEBRE

Alfred Lambremont Webre, Chairman of the Board of Advisors of the Mars Anomaly Research Society (MARS), discussing the frontier of contact with extraterrestrial life on Mars:

“Through scientific remote viewing, key researchers in the area of exopolitical relations between human and off-planet cultures have identified key characteristics and goals of an apparent off-planet culture on Mars. This present-day Martian off-planet culture, humanoid in form, lives under the surface of Mars, and may live clandestinely on Earth in underground bases in the United States and in intentional rural colonies in South America.”

“This Martian culture reportedly may be survivors of a Martian-solar system cataclysm in the distant past. The survivors of the Martian culture were rescued from this past cataclysm in a time travel operation approved by a galactic governing body known as the ‘galactic federation.’ The time travel rescue operation was reportedly conducted by an off-planet culture known as the ‘Advanced Grays.’ ”

“The surviving Martian culture, now existing under the surface of Mars, is about 150 years in advance of our present-day human civilization, some remote viewing data suggests. The scientific remote viewing data suggest that the Martian off-planet culture may wish to initiate contact and integration with human civilization, including migration to Earth, as living conditions on Mars are difficult for the long-term.”

“Initial data suggest that mutual benefits to the Martian off-planet culture and to our human civilization might result from goodwill contact and public interest diplomacy between our two cultures, and set out a proposed general course of action for mutual contact.”

Quotable Quotes – Alfred Lambremont Webre, page 2

“Star Wars represents our continued obsession with war, by exporting the permanent warfare economy, space-based weapons, and active warfare into outer space. Star Wars is a choice that involves going with the internal emotions of fear, aggression, conflict, non-trust, control over others, and a desire to move towards a future of perpetual war, agony, and suffering. This choice leads to a nightmare on Earth.”

“A Star Dreams approach to Mars represents a transformation of our war industry into a peaceful, cooperative, sustainable Space Age society, and integrating with an intelligent, organized Universe society. The choice of peace is a choice that almost every man, woman, and child can dream of.”

“The time of the intentional quarantine of Earth is ending, along with the end of ordinary politics, and of the permanent warfare economy. The time of a sustainable, cooperative, Space Age, Mars-Earth society is just starting.”

“A Star Dreams approach to Mars embraces the ideals of caring about life, curiosity, exploration, trust, cooperation and a desire to move towards a more spiritual future. Supporting initiatives, such as an international UN Space Preservation Treaty to ban space-based weapons and warfare in space, is a legal step towards Star Dreams. The Star Dreams choice leads to hope for our future.”