

HOAGLAND: STATEMENT AFFIRMING HIS BELIEF IN THE HOAGLAND-VAN FLANDERN POSTULATE

SEATTLE, WA (MARS) March 8, 2010 – Here is the complete text of the statement made today by Richard C. Hoagland, the director of Enterprise Mission, in which he affirmed his belief in the doctrine called the Hoagland-Van Flandern Postulate, which holds that all of the evidence of life on Mars is probative of the notion that there was life on Mars eons ago but that Mars is a planet devoid of life today:

Richard C. Hoagland to Robert Morningstar and Alfred Lambremont Webre
Monday, March 8, 2010, 12:11 PM PST

Robert,

Evidence...

Show me evidence of CURRENT "intelligent life on Mars." :)

All we see are ruins... literally thousands of square miles... of ruins.

And, a lot of mud covering them... slowly eroding and blowing away in the wind.

Which is why we can now see glimpses [of] what was once buried in a vast, planetary catastrophe

Which suddenly ENDED the Martian Civilization... a long, long time ago.

RCH

P.S. – If there is anyone NOW living on Mars, it is "us" – as part of the  $\pm$  60-year-old Secret Space Program.

The Hoagland-Van Flandern Postulate that all of the evidence of life on Mars is only evidence of ancient life can be distinguished from the Basiago-Webre Postulate that the images from NASA's Mars Exploration Rovers Spirit and Opportunity provide evidence showing that Mars is an inhabited planet.

Humanoid beings, a scorpion man, and primate named "Sendak" discovered by Basiago on Mars